“Every assignment - from quantifying economic losses to uncovering evidence of fraud - is conducted on the basis that our findings must withstand aggressive scrutiny in court. Robust only just begins to describe our processes.”

Brett Goodyer Associate

SPECIALIST SKILLS

Brett has the ability to help both businesses and professionals understand complex financial events and situations. He has the capacity to analyse a business or event with a critical eye and get to the bottom of the problem in short order. With a knack for separating fact from fallacy, he is an accomplished fraud investigator and business advisor.

Specialist skills include:

- Fraud and corruption investigation
- Fraud risk management
- Digital forensics
- Business valuation
- Quantification of economic loss
- Expert reports on financial matters

PROFESSIONAL QUALIFICATIONS

- Bachelor of Commerce (Accountancy)
- Master of Forensic Accounting
- Certified Practising Accountant

MEMBERSHIP AND ASSOCIATIONS

- Member of the Australian Society of Certified Practising Accountants
- Chairman, Institute of Forensic Accountants of Australia

CAREER AND INDUSTRY HIGHLIGHTS

Extensive experience in fraud and corrupt conduct investigations over a period of five to six years within the NSW Public Service, working closely with the NSW Independent Commission Against Corruption and NSW Police. Experience in review, quantification and assessment of damages, intellectual property disputes, business valuations and client advisory services. Brett joined Jirsch Sutherland in March 2007.

PERSONAL INTERESTS

When not spending time with his young family, Brett is an avid angler - both saltwater and freshwater. However, as Chairman of the Institute of Forensic Accountants of Australia, he currently finds little time to indulge his passion, focusing instead on bringing some semblance of order to his professional niche.
