

Jirsch Sutherland opens NEW Macarthur Office

Jirsch Sutherland opened its newest office in Narellan on 1 October 2013 where Trent Devine, who was born and bred in Campbelltown, is the Partner-In-Charge.

With offices in New South Wales at Sydney, Newcastle, and Gosford our firm's expansion to the Southwest will provide us with a greater ability to service the needs of our clients. Jirsch Sutherland is pleased to have so many strong relationships with accountants and lawyers in metropolitan Sydney and we look forward to enhancing those relationships with the addition of our Macarthur office.

Why Macarthur?

The Macarthur area boasts a population of over 250,000 and has in excess of 17,000 businesses operating in the region. Strong and sustainable growth is forecast for the entire region.

The anticipated increase in population will lead to increased business opportunities and employment. Invariably, increased business activities require a range of services, including those offered by our firm.

At Jirsch Sutherland we pride ourselves on working with our clients and their stakeholders to find the right solution when times get tough. Our straight talking culture is fundamental to ensuring that informed decisions are made under difficult circumstances.

Why Trent Devine?

Trent's professional qualifications are available here. However, those details don't tell you a lot about him or why he jumped at the opportunity to head up an office in Narellan.

Trent was born and raised in Campbelltown, attending St Gregory's College and completing his tertiary studies at UWS Macarthur. Trent also played rugby union for the Campbelltown Harlequins for a number of years. It was not until he moved to London in 2003 that Trent lived anywhere other than Campbelltown. Only upon his return from overseas did Trent make the necessary move closer to the City to continue his professional career.

With his extended family living in the Macarthur area and having a young family of his own, Trent approached his Partners at Jirsch Sutherland to open an office in Macarthur. Trent will be sharing time between both the Sydney and Narellan offices as he continues to build the firm's presence in Southwest Sydney.

Trent has recently joined the Narellan Chamber of Commerce and already has a strong business relationships with accountants and lawyers in the Macarthur area.
